

Secure Access Essentials for lean IT teams – without the complexity

Discover SaaS and AI usage, control access, and secure logins in the browser where work (and risk) actually happens.

You understand how important secure passwords are when it comes to keeping your business safe. But staying protected has evolved beyond that, driven by the rapid adoption of SaaS and AI tools employees are using. Now they're accessing unapproved apps from any device, exposing sensitive data without realizing it. Credentials are falling into the wrong hands. You're dealing with too much access in some places and too little in others—creating both security gaps and productivity bottlenecks. And traditional tools that could help are too complex and expensive for your team, leaving you to manage threats you can't see.

Simplify and strengthen access and credential security

LastPass gives overwhelmed IT and security teams the Secure Access Essentials needed to prevent breaches, burdens, and bad decisions without added complexity or cost.
